

Cover Removal

There are several categories:

Wood frame furniture or thermo-formed frame furniture usually has the covers stapled into place. In this case cover removal should be undertaken by a professional upholsterer. Seat, back and arm cushions, however, usually have covers that are removable by means of zip closures.

Wood frame and thermo-formed frame collections designed to have covers removable by the user (covers attached by Velcro or some other system).

Multy density foam built furniture with covers attached by means of zips and buttons. Usually best to consult a professional upholsterer. However, their involvement will usually be much quicker for such furniture than for covers that are stapled into place.

Multy density foam furniture designed to have covers removable by the user, proceed slowly, and very carefully.

It is better to spend a little bit longer and do the job perfectly. Especially in view of the fact that it is not necessary to remove the covers of your furniture very often.
